Wet grounds slows softball

There's fewer depressing scenes than a water-soaked ball park. And Monday evening the new softball park east of town was pretty sad looking with miniature lakes shimmering at shortstop and between first and second.

Usually the diamond drainage at the new park is good enough to permit play after a rain but the ground is apparently too well soaked for that now. Too, a portion of left field that usually dries out quickly was pretty gooey and presented a hazard area.

So play Monday night was called. This rain-out leaves a total of three dates left to be re-scheduled. According to Steve Andrews, last night's contests are reset for tonight. Those games that were rained out on Tuesday, Aug. 16, and Tuesday, Aug. 23, but had not been rescheduled have been reset for Wednesday and Thursday nights respectively. Hopefully these dates can be played so that the league playoffs can start right after the Labor Day weekend. A total of nines games are left to be played.

A schedule of games can be found elsewhere on this page that denotes who is to play who when.
